ANARCHISTS' CHANCES.

Capt. Black Refuses the O.T. Parole.

Opinions of the Counsel Greatly Improved.

Supreme Justice Miller Seen by a Reporter.

The Importance of the Case Over No Figure.

Time to Take the Record Denied

Chicago, September 20. A Daily News Washington special says: The anarchists' chances of the slenderest thread of life upon which a human existence ever hung for a moment seem to-day just as the eminent Justice was climbing into a hack on the way to take a train for Keokuk. The reporter who had waited and sat down opposite Justice Miller was anxious to learn his fellow-travelers' views and answered questions that otherwise, until making up his mind, he would scarcely have thought of asking. Usually in such cases the judges and associate judges of the district in which the case originates are consulted. In this case Justice Harlan should be seen. He is now in Chicago now, but in Washington, where he will be for some time. It is very rare that cases of error and entries come before the court and when they do they are [illegible] argument. The anarchists' case differs from other cases before the supreme court in that the constitutional rights of the prisoners or the federal laws were broken in the trial.

"Do you think they were?"

"I don't know. I don't say."

"Will the fact that it is a case of life or death make any difference in the way it is heard before the supreme court?"

"No. It makes no difference in the [illegible] only its consequences are of more serious importance."

"Are you only the case you are now considering?"

"Yes. Only the case now in the court."

"Is it a case of unusual importance?"

"No. Except that it is a case of life or death."

"Do you think the case will be decided before the 20th of October?"

"I don't know. I don't say."

"Will the fact that it is a case of life or death make any difference in the way it is heard before the supreme court?"

"No. It makes no difference."

"I don't know. I don't say."

"Will the fact that it is a case of life or death make any difference in the way it is heard before the supreme court?"

"No. It makes no difference."

Capt. Black appeared very much concerned and after the court adjourned was in consultation with Mr. Foster, counsel for the defense, and Mr. Ward, the latter of whom is expected to arrive in Chicago to-day. Capt. Black has asked the clerk of the court to make an estimate of what it would cost to make a copy of the record and advise him to-morrow.

Justice Miller on the Situation.

Chicago, September 20. Justice Samuel F. Miller, of the United States supreme court, who, if the Chicago anarchists propose to press their case, was overtaken by a train to-day just as the eminent jurist was climbing into a hack on the way to take a train for Keokuk. The reporter who had waited and sat down opposite Justice Miller was anxious to learn his fellow travelers' views and answered questions that otherwise, until making up his mind, he would scarcely have thought of asking. THE WEEK

The New York Legislature convened this week, ...

We print several articles on "The Duties of Public Officers" in the Atlantic for September 1879. The article discusses the subject from a very high standpoint. One of the most striking features of the article is the arraignment of the fee system. We hope some of its readers will be concerned into practical legislation.

Prohibition is gaining ground throughout the south and in many places of the north, but the prohibition party as an independent organization is losing ground. This party found Blaine on one ... No effort will be made to consolidate it by either party. They propose to run the campaign ... Texas for example the prohibitionists nearly carried the state on the constitutional amendment, but the prohibition party as a party took no interest in state and national politics on that issue has no influence or standing. Prohibitionists accomplish most by favoring local option legislation and by working ... friends of such a measure in either of the two great parties, and not by nominating candidates standing on this single plank for a platform.

The discussion of prison reform ... Mr. Carroll D Wright. The discussion used to be confined to the people that there should be no labor in prisons because it brought capital labor into competition with free labor. This fear was a false one because the competition ... convict labor with free labor was hardly an appreciable factor in wages, and because the door of the shop to which the convict came was useful to make wages ... moved. Mr. Wright says ... that to place the convict upon the ... prison. He holds that it is ... important to make a state prison pay its own expenses ... to get the ... vict a trade. Until the convict ... he simply tends a machine ... does not learn ... trade. The system Mr. Wright recommends is one of mental training with ... development and faculties and increase the chances of the prisoner ... ing an honest life.
